

Heidelberg cooperation

Students of the master's program in Economics at the University of Mannheim have the opportunity to take classes at Heidelberg University, our partner university. This allows students to expand their knowledge and gives them more choice when selecting specializations. After they have completed their first semester and the core module at the University of Mannheim, they can register for classes offered in the master's program Economics at Heidelberg University in the following areas: Economics, Statistics, Econometrics, and Economic History. Courses that are offered by or in cooperation with other institutions require prior consultation. Please contact the program manager (econgrad@uni-mannheim.de).

Students of the University of Mannheim may obtain up to 40 ECTS credits from courses at Heidelberg University. Provided there are enough supervisors available, students can even decide to write their master's thesis at Heidelberg University and designate a staff member there as their supervisor (please note that the master's thesis takes four months to complete and is worth 30 ECTS credits; if you choose to write your thesis at Heidelberg University, you may only attend courses worth a total of 10 ECTS credits there).

The following bullet points summarize additional information regarding this cooperation:
